Re: 14th National Respiratory Postgraduate Conference Friday 6th October 2023

Dear Colleague

The Department of Respiratory Medicine is pleased to invite you to our 14th National Respiratory Postgraduate Conference to be held in the Education and Research Centre at St. Vincent's University Hospital on Friday 6th October, 2023.

We believe this Conference will be of particular interest to Consultant Physicians who treat patients with Respiratory diseases, and should also appeal to Specialist Registrars in Respiratory and other relevant specialties in Internal Medicine, GP's with a major Respiratory interest, and Respiratory Nurse Specialists.

The programme will cover three major topics in Respiratory disease, namely; COPD, Clinically Actionable Genes: Why Care? and Authorship, Autoimmunity & Auscultation and will provide a clinically focused update on these important topics. The invited Faculty includes National and International opinion leaders.

While there are many clinical meetings available to Physicians, we believe this Conference will fill a gap in the area of Respiratory Disorders. The programme has been independently developed by the Consultant Respiratory Physicians at St. Vincent's, and has been kindly supported by unrestricted educational grants from several Pharmaceutical companies. CPD approval is being sought from the RCPI and Registration is free.

We hope that you can join us here on Friday 6th October 2023 and we look forward to seeing you in person on the day. We would be grateful if you could email Elaine Gough (e.gough@svuh.ie) if you are interested in registering, as numbers will be limited on the day.

Kind Regards

Dr. Marcus Butler
(On behalf of the Consultant Respiratory Physicians at St. Vincent's University Hospital)
